

Start Young. Involve Parents.

July 24, 2020

Dear Lumin Parents,

Last week we sent you some information regarding dates for re-opening school. Since that time, a few things have happened that are causing us to revise our plans.

- The Dallas County Health Authority published an order stating schools shall not open for on-campus instruction until after September 7.
- The Texas Education Agency (TEA) extended the allowable timeframe for At-Home learning to four weeks (and up to eight weeks if Board approves).

In light of both of these changes and to allow for additional preparation and planning, we have adjusted the 2020-21 School Calendar.

- Lumin will start school on August 20 with At-Home Distance Learning for all students. We will stay in At-Home learning for the first four weeks of school.
- We plan to be open for At-School learning on Thursday, September 17 for parents who choose the on-site learning option. This could change pending more restrictive guidance from the Governor or Dallas County.

In order to be prepared for At-Home Learning, we need to know if your child has access to internet and a computer or tablet. We have collected this information from some but not all parents. We will provide a format for you to inform us of your resource needs.

We want to make sure we give you as much information as we can. As updates are available, we will post them on Lumin's website under the "Resources/Parents" menu. This is also where you can find the Frequently Asked Questions document.

Thank you for your patience as we continue to prepare for the new school year.
